

Now someone else can do those chores

THEY say the gift of time is one of the most precious gifts of all. Now you can grab back a few minutes with Buy:Time Surrey.

Buy:Time is a lifestyle management company that will help you drastically cut your 'to do' list.

Linda Denne, Buy:Time representative for Surrey, can help with all those jobs that you don't have time for, or simply don't want to do.

Household chores stacking up? Then Linda can help with things like overseeing decorators, waiting in for repair men and deliveries and spring-cleaning.

She can also be your own private secretary by filing, taking messages, organising taxis and paying bills.

Looking for a house, but have no time to search through the classifieds? Then Linda can search for suitable properties, contact the estate agents and even set up viewings.

She can also organise everything from your child's birthday party to a golden wedding anniversary.

Linda said: "I believe one of the reasons that Buy:Time is so popular is because there is no joining fee and so you can literally buy an hour here and there when you can afford it."

An hour of a Buy:Time representative's time costs £39 and there are discounts for group bookings.

They also run a popular voucher scheme, meaning that you can 'buy' time for your loved ones.

"Our gift vouchers will make people extremely popular with stressed out sisters, mums or the best friend who has three kids and a job," said Linda.

"Quality time is the very best gift you can give anyone

"It's simple to organise as well. People just contact us, stipulate the number of hours they would like to purchase for the recipient and we post off a personalised voucher the next day," she added.

Buy:Time lifestyle management was launched in London in 2002 and has become so successful that it has been rolled out to Surrey and Berkshire.
